COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course students should be able to:

1. Analyze current trends and issues in the tourism and events management field.
2. Conduct research using public and secondary data.
3. Prepare a technical report and make recommendations for management.
4. Identify, create and assess materials pertaining to career placement in the tourism or events field.

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course is a seminar and requires preparation, extensive in-class discussion, and peer presentation. It is expected that students will demonstrate the knowledge and competencies they have developed during preceding semesters in the BS-TEM program. The following rules and guidelines are in support of the effort to prepare seminar participants to enter the profession:

1. Attendance and participation are key elements to a successful learning experience. When tardiness or an absence is anticipated, it is the responsibility of the student to advise the instructor in advance. However, notification alone does not necessarily excuse the absence. Further documentation should be offered and may be required. Advising the instructor of unexpected absence or tardiness should take place at the earliest opportunity. A passing grade will not be given if more than two seminar meetings are missed (including 'excused' absences). Extreme tardiness will be considered an absence.
2. Assignments will NOT be accepted after the due date. Excused absence does not change the submission deadlines.
3. Unless required due to documented disability or approved by the instructor, laptop computers, tablets, phones and other mobile devices may NOT be used during class meetings.
4. All assignments must be typed and presented in a professional format. Electronic versions of assignments will only be accepted when that form is specifically requested by the instructor or approved in advance of the submission deadline.
5. If your instructor is not in the classroom at 10:30 a.m., please wait 20 minutes before leaving.

6. The instructor reserves the right to change this syllabus in order to improve the quality of the overall learning experience. Changes may include scheduled activities, classroom policies, and future grading criteria, and will be communicated to all students.
